

MANES

DILE

Manes, the soul of space.

by Ximo Roca Design

In a world of constant transformation, Manes stands for permanence. It is a collection that views design as a balance between function, time, and meaning, shaping spaces that are more livable, serene, and intentional.

Manes is born from the concept of permanence. Inspired by the Roman tradition of the Manes, the guardians of the home, the collection reclaims this legacy and translates it for the modern era. These pieces are designed not merely for use, but to be inhabited. Each element strikes a precise balance between materiality, form, and stillness.

DILE

Designed to complement spaces in constant evolution, Manes responds with poise and serenity. In contract settings, it brings order, efficiency, and clarity to high-traffic environments. Within the home, it integrates seamlessly, creating a quiet presence that invites one to linger.

The collection marries structural precision with visual lightness. Nothing is superfluous: every line serves a purpose, every detail an intention. The cantilevered arm, for instance, optimizes space and streamlines maintenance, effortlessly weaving functionality into the design.

THE SOUL OF SPACE

Manes is more than an object; it is a place. A sanctuary of pause amidst the motion, a support that embraces. At its core, memory and the present coexist, the tangible and the symbolic, crafting an experience where rest takes on a nearly ritualistic quality.

This cantilevered feature allows the chair to be suspended from the tabletop, enhancing the sense of airiness while simplifying floor care. It is a solution ideally suited for the contract sector, particularly hotels and restaurants, where operational efficiency is paramount, yet comfort and aesthetics remain non-negotiable.

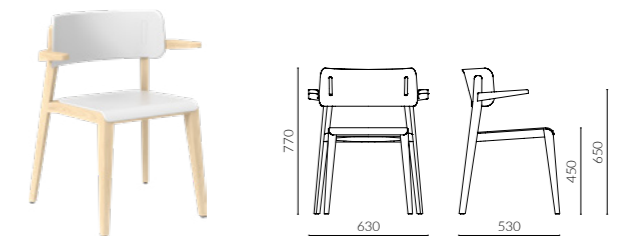

Every detail is refined for intensive use, incorporating solutions that protect, optimize, and extend the product's lifespan. Footrest with powder-coated metal cover, matched to the polypropylene color palette.
